

About Us and JewelryShare

As society becomes increasingly aware of saving money and using resources wisely, sharing accessories is gaining popularity. Some of us like having lots of cheap jewelry, which can wear down quickly after just several uses, or some of us like having few pieces of higher-end jewelry, which is very expensive. By providing a centralized service that would help facilitate sharing, Jewelry Share aims to make sharing easier for everyone.

There were many concerns we faced in starting up this business. We wanted to make JewelryShare a simple service to use. Here were a few and how we countered the challenges:

- Validating customers. We run a simple background check to make sure customers are real.*
- Putting up fake items. This is why we must check the items before they go up on the site. We have a professional check the authenticity and value of the jewelry to make sure we are not renting any knock-off items. If a customer repeatedly tries to put up fake jewelry, the customer will be banned from the website.*
- Trust. Your items are insured from the time they are mailed with our pre-paid shipping labels. If they are damaged during rental, the renter will be responsible for the full price.*
- Payments. Payments are taken care of through PayPal, so we do not deal directly with any credit card or debit card information.*
- Cleanliness. All items are professionally cleaned before they are sent out to rent, and are cleaned upon return to the headquarters.*
- Anonymity. Your user information is NOT shared anywhere - it would be a bad idea to have your info shared, especially if someone knows where you live and what jewelry you own.*
