Hi. I enjoy writing, reading, and spending time outdoors. I am also an indie game developer. I have worked on "Zerod's Revenge" and "Cataclysm Eternal". Now I am currently working on my first VR game. The game will take place in a post-apocalyptic world where Norse Gods are real. Check it out along with my other work at www.camstheman.com.

Cameron says: I found the coolest spot on Wednesday. There were so many Red-Throated Hummingbirds and I am pretty sure that it will get a great eastern light in the early morning.

Kate says: Oh cool! Where is it? I haven't managed to see a hummingbird yet this season.

Cameron says: It is on the corner of Harbor Ave and Wilson St. Just pass that new cafe.

Kate says: Great! You should use the 200 mm lens with our new Nikon. And definitely stick with manual focus - autofocus will never do a hummingbird justice.

Cameron says: Thanks for the advice. I have never shot anything that moves that fast! This will be an interesting challenge but it'll be worth it to add one of those little guys to my collection.

Kate says: Yes! You always remember your first hummingbird. One more thing - even in good light you should use a really, really fast shutter speed. I am talking like 1/125th.

Cameron says: Oh man I would've never guessed that small of a fraction. You are a lifesaver! Tom's turn with the Nikon is up on the 21st and I am next. I can't wait! I will be sure to post some of my pics to the group after I get a nice sunny morning to shoot.
